

ROB J. ALIFF '91, '97L

CHARLESTON, WV

Rob J. Aliff is an Attorney in the Litigation Department of Jackson Kelly, PLLC, in Charleston, West Virginia. He is a Member of the Firm and currently serves as the Chair of its Medical Professional Liability Group. Rob's law practice focuses on general, medical and health care litigation, with a substantial part of his practice involving the defense of doctors, nurses, hospitals and other health care providers in medical negligence cases. He has tried cases involving cardiology, cardiothoracic surgery, oncology, urology, orthopedic surgery, gynecologic surgery, obstetrics, general surgery, radiology and various nursing care issues. Rob is the Chair of Firm's Associates and Staff Attorneys Committee.

Rob received a B.A. in 1991 and J.D. in 1997, both from W&L. While on the undergraduate campus, Rob served as a dorm counselor and as a student representative on the Faculty Executive Committee. He was also actively involved in the music department, was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, and was inducted into the Omicron Delta Kappa National Leadership Honor Society. While a law student, Rob participated in the Alderson Prison Practicum, was a member of Phi Alpha Delta, and served as the W&L student representative to the American Bar Association. Between his undergraduate and law degrees, Rob also worked as an Admissions Counselor and as Assistant Director of Admissions at W&L. Since leaving Lexington, Rob served as President of the Charleston, West Virginia, Alumni Chapter, served on the W&L Law Council and is currently Chair of the Law Annual Fund.

Rob currently serves on the Board of Governors of the West Virginia State Bar, is a member of the Board of Directors of Leadership West Virginia and serves on the Advisory Counsel for the West Virginia Governor's Schools. His free time is spent with his wife, Tracy Wilkerson, daughter, Meredith, and son, Wilkes. The family enjoys traveling, skiing and bicycling.